Justice of the Peace

Mr. Cassidy is a candidate on the Democratic ticket. He has never been in politics but now that he has plenty of time he feels that he should be willing to do his share of public duty.

He has been a successful business man, has a reputation for honesty and fair dealing, and if elected assures the public that he will give the duties of that office the best possible attention.

SPECIAL-SIX COUPE

There is a charm of good taste in every feature of the SPECIAL-SIX Coupe. Soft carpeting, subdued harmony of coloring in the upholstery, inviting depth of cushions, completeness of appointments—all offer an irresistible appeal.

50-H.P. detachable-head motor; 119-inch wheelbase. All Studebaker Cars are equipped with Cord Tires—another Studebaker precedent.

WHAT A FARM BUREAU AND A COUNTY AGENT CAN DO.

We are informed by the County agent of our neighboring county, of Otsego, that through the efforts of the County Agent and the Farm bureau that farms of that County have given orders for fourteen thousand pounds of certified pure grass seed, cover, timothy, sudan grass, and over a ton certified alfalfa seed. Think of it! Fourteen thousand pounds and a ton of it alfalfa! Why can not farmers of Crawford County have the same chance?

We are informed by a man, who has had large opportunity to visit various counties of this part of the state, that he believes that Crawford County has made a great mistake in dismissing her County Agent.

Most of the counties of Northern Michigan have County Agents. People readily flock, where other people are prospering. One of the most direct ways to bring prosperity to the farmers, who are here already is to have them inspired to new and better practices by the County Agent as he visits them and advises with them—one farmer, better seed oats, another, a better bull; another, a little trial of alfalfa; another, an emergency hay crop; another, a silo; another, better methods with potatoes; and another, discovering leaks in farm profits.

Of the very small amount of money the county had to raise towards the agent's salary, probably half, at least was paid by non-resident tax-payers.

SALVATION ARMY NEEDS $255,000 TO CARRY ON EXTENSION SERVICE.

More than 100 men and women, representing 69 County Advisory boards in Michigan, met in Lansing Thursday of last week and decided that $255,000 is needed by The Salvation Army to "carry on" its 1921 extension service program in this state.

All day the delegates to the convention wrestled with the social problems confronting their respective counties. At the conclusion of a general study of social conditions as they exist in the rural communities in the state, A. H. Zenner, of Detroit, secretary of the State Advisory Board, presented the 1921 budget as developed and approved by the state board.

The convention adopted the budget and voted to conduct a financial appeal in Michigan during the period of May 8 to 17. It also voted that each county would conduct the appeal simultaneously throughout the state.

Mrs. Col. Mary Stillwell of Chicago "the mother of The Salvation Army Rescue and Maternity Homes," told of the work the army is doing for woman and "girl-mothers" in the Detroit and Grand Rapids Homes.

"Seventy-five per cent of the social and maternity cases that come to the Salvation Army Corps in the cities have their origin in the small towns and rural communities," said Col. Stillwell.

Brigadier Samuel Withers, of Detroit, divisional commander for the Army in Michigan, explained his extension plans for Michigan. Brigadier Withers plans five new corps centers, broader relief work and a Salvation Army state fresh air camp.

Mrs. L. J. Kraus represented Crawford County at the meeting.

WHAT SHALL WE DO NOW?

Easter is past. The big impulse of that day and season is gone. What shall we do now about the church? O the church is going right on doing business. Special days are simply for emphasis. We would tire of them if they came all the time.

The Michelson Memorial church has a program for more than special days. April offers four beautiful Sundays and many other days of vital interest. Last Sunday that fine congregation was simply what should be each Sunday. All those who came last Sunday should be on hand every Sunday. It is the only way to get anywhere. Next Sunday the church expects a crowd. Come and get your place. Be on hand early and meet the people. Let's make this church something to talk about for good.

Monday, April 11th, Dr. F. E. Day of Huntington, Ind., brings a series of sermons and addresses. Each night at seven-thirty he brings a message of absorbing interest to all who come. Sunday, April 17th will be his last day. Put these dates down on your book.

Dr. Rice will speak again in our church May 26th., Hurray!

O. E. Doty.

HOW WILL YOU VOTE MONDAY?

LOOK 'EM OVER AND PICK THE BEST MEN FOR OFFICE.

Also Study Into the Merits of the Soldiers' Bonus Amendment.

Next Monday will be election day, and at that time officers will be elected, who will be empowered to conduct the affairs of our respective township governments.

The office of supervisor is the most important and responsible one in the whole lot and the best qualified men should be elected to that office.

The other offices also are more or less important and careful consideration should be given in the election of the men to fill them.

We are again presenting a complete list of the candidates of the several townships so that our readers may become familiar with them and be ready to vote intelligently when they go to the polls Monday.

The candidates on the state ticket are not being printed, because of lack of space.

The Soldiers' bonus amendment that is being so widely discussed in the homes these days, is also herewith published, that all who wish may become familiar with its contents.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Wink Links in a Strong Chain

That's just what imitation parts are when they become a part of your Ford car. They look strong enough, but the metal isn't there—the strong durable Vanadium steel that goes into the Ford chassis and every Ford part. Ford parts are specially cast and heat-treated, each according to its use. Some require a hard, flint-like wearing surface, others need resiliency, and some need just "toughness."

Ford metallurgists have been studying these problems for sixteen years and know just how each unit should be made to endure a maximum of wear and tear. They know that best results can be obtained only by the use of special formulas for different parts, and that honest Ford parts wear from thirty-five to one hundred per cent longer than counterfeits.

We carry complete assortments of genuine Ford parts for both passenger cars and trucks. And our garage is equipped to give careful, prompt Ford service—from minor adjustments to complete overhauls. Drive in, it's better to be safe than sorry. Come to the Authorized Ford dealer for service.

Back of the Fordson is the Fordson service organization. Fordson repairmen and stocks of extra parts—are always convenient and insure you continuous use of your tractor.

THE WOODS

BY DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MY MAN AN' ME.

MY MAN an' me fer forty years

Have hiked it up the hill,

An' side by side, an' bound an' tied,

As was your youthful will.

He come upon me like a dream

Of all I hoped to be—

An' so we stood, fer ill er good

Made one, my man an' me!

It was a rosy way we went

When life was in the dawn;

I heard the birds, I heard the words

A young wife feeds upon.

His arm was 'round about my waist.

He led me tenderly—

'Twas long ago we traveled so

'The road, my man an' me.

Though still we travel side by side,

We travel now apart—

For older wives live lonely lives,

An' hungry is the heart.

'Twas long ago I felt the kiss

In youth he gave so free—

Still side by side, but years divide

Us two, my man an' me.

Yet once he held my hand in his;

We knelt beside a cross.

Together knelt, together felt

An' shared a common loss.

An' there was four instead of two

(Er so it seemed to be)

Yes, there was four—the babe I bore,

My God, my man an' me.

The river ran is covered now

With Winter's ice an' snow;

Upon its banks no lilies rest

Where lilies used to blow.

But underneath the Winter's ice

The waters flow as free

As in the Spring we heard 'em sing

Their song, my man an' me.

So age may melt upon his lips

An' cool the speech of youth;

An' yet I know he promised so

To love, an' spoke the truth.

The Winter days of life may chill

The ways of such as we;

But 'neath the cold the love of old

Still warms my man an' me.

An Adventure Romance

GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN

COPYRIGHT THE BOBBE-MERRILL COMPANY

Her voice came back to him from very close as though her face had been pressed to the glass in an effort to make him out. "At the corner of the Avenue and East Ninth street."

Ten minutes later he drew up his cab at the appointed spot and reached back to throw open the door, but kept his foot on the clutch release, leaving the gears in mesh, first speed ahead.

All his precautions were in vain. As he opened the cab door his coat sleeve was seized in a very determined grip and drawn inward, catching his elbow in a jin-jitsu leverage that left him the Hobson's choice of either getting out and facing his captor or listening to his arm break. He chose to get down from his seat quickly.

"Well, Bobby," murmured Miss Van T. Mr. Randolph attempted no evasion; he handed the lady to the curb and guided her gently toward her own door and up the high steps. "Madge," he said, "you fought a great fight to-night and when you had won you felt sorry for Tremont and surrendered. You were swept too high on the wave of the best that is in you. Promise me that you won't forget that you have won. Promise me that you will wait and take Tremont, all of him, with honor."

"What do you mean? What did you hear?" cried Miss Van T. angrily, her pale face suddenly flushing. "From the start of the ride to the finish I heard every word," declared Mr. Randolph frankly, "and more."

"And more?" repeated the hard-pressed girl. "What do you mean by more?" She still tried to browbeat him, but remembering one incredibly long kiss, her eyes fell in the unequal battle with Bobby's and attempted to create diversion by staring at his gartered legs and heavily booted feet.

"Look at Madge. Look at me," said Mr. Randolph and waited patiently until first her long lashes fluttered and then her lovely eyes swept slowly up to his face. "That's it," he continued as their looks met and locked. "Let's hold that so we can't lie."

"Why should I lie if you really heard everything?" asked Miss Van T., and suddenly smiled. "Madge, you little devil," said Mr. Randolph, suppressing an impulse to shake her, "can you think of what you've been doing and laughing?"

"Yes, I can, just now," said Miss Van T., in little gasping phrases that to a man, especially one of Mr. Randolph's impudic nature, carried only their face value in words, but which to any woman would have read as plainly as the red-weather signal. "Look out for showers of tears followed by storm."

"Well," said Mr. Randolph solemnly. "If you really don't realize just where you have been, let me tell you. First you flew high into clean air and you took Tremont with you. You were possessed of a vision and you made him see it, too, a mirage of those lifted places that are the altar of the mind before love. Just a mirage, an illusion of perfect happiness, which could reason tells us we can't ever turn into reinforced concrete and plant in the yard, but which we must either forever hold as a vision or admit that love is a sorrowful and wingless thing."

Miss Van Toller's eyes fell from his frank gaze. Something seemed to crumble within her; she put her arms around Mr. Randolph's neck, clung to him, dropped her face against his shoulder and sobbed, not noisily, but as one who weeps to rest.

He held her close to him and went on, his face set as though in a duty. "Then what did you do? Because he hesitated, merely hesitated at the high door of adoration, you promptly snatched it and dropped plumb straight down like that traitor archangel Johnny out of heaven into the arms of hell."

"Bobby!" cried Miss Van T., throwing back her head and struggling to release herself. "How dare you say a thing like that? How dare you say here, anyway? I hate you. I don't know how I ever could have thought I loved you. I felt, but it was there right now." More sobs, convulsive ones, that shook the slim body in Mr. Randolph's embrace from twitching shoulder to tired feet.

Left the reader be startled by what's coming next it will do well to remind him that this poignant scene was staged at three o'clock in the morning on the high step of the Van Toller residence in East Ninth street and never left the perimeter of the door-mat which in itself presented an almost feminine contradiction, in that it bore, deep in red on its face, the word "Welcome," but was nevertheless padlocked and chained to the iron railing.

Even as Miss Van Toller was sobbing her heart out and Mr. Randolph was standing in the bewilderment of one who knows he has not only taken the wrong turning but placed both his feet in a heart-trap, a thick, heavy, unsympathetic voice arose from the foot of the steps.

"Here! Xone! Break away and come along of me!"
Memories of a mischievous boyhood swarmed to Mr. Randolph's mind, recollections of those days when, as chief of the Madison Square gang, his ears had tingled to the cry of "Cheese it, de cop! We're pinched, fellows!" A cold sweat came out upon his brow;

he slowly relaxed his grip on Miss Van T's person and whispered tremulously to her to keep her nerve but hand him her latchkey.

Over his shoulder he said with forced calm, "On what charge, officer?"

"Same old dope," replied the policeman phlegmatically, "drunken, disorderly. Come along, now, or I'll want me to climb them steps so's we can all roll down together?"

During that speech Mr. Randolph, steadily turned the lock and opened the door. "The way's clear, Madge," he whispered, "beat it!"

"Oh, is it, Bobby, my dear," rattled Miss Van T. in a stage whisper that could be heard across the street. "I didn't mean it, really, what I said about hating you. But I do love Becher, Bobby, and I'll—I'll—"

"For heaven's sake, Madge," growled Mr. Randolph, hearing sounds as of a bear starting to scum a tree, "keep all that till New Year's."

"I was just going to say," continued Miss Van T. breathlessly but with a cold eye fixed on the enmeshed shadow coming up the steps, "that I'll owe it to you, Bobby. I'll owe it to you. D'you understand?"

"Sure," lied Mr. Randolph as he pushed her firmly through the door, then caught its knob, slammed it shut and turned to meet Nemesis. "Hello, Flahabarty!"

The huge policeman stopped his ponderous but sure progression and stared long and suspiciously into Mr. Randolph's face. Finally he gave a grunt of recognition. "Slim," he said to himself almost as though some-where within his vast bulk there were a separate monitor that had to be tipped off to the situation, "Slim Harvey."

"Sure," said Mr. Randolph, leading the way toward his wagon. "Who else did you think it was at this time of night?"

"How did I know," demanded Mr. Flahabarty gruffly but not unpleasantly for him, "as you had taken on deliveries of fancy dress-goods on top of your regular line?"

He breathed heavily and allowed his eyes to protrude further than usual in search of a thought which he sensed in the near distance. "I tell you, Slim," he finally continued, "I don't know what this burg is a-comin' to. Why, even the street kind used to have a man to take 'em home, but this here was a bit of high-flyin' stuff—me, I could see that—an' they had to give it to a cab!"

"Forget it," said Bobby nervously. "All I says," continued Mr. Flahabarty, "is thank God both of my goals is married to bairn men that can't do the trick the stuff's outen 'em."

"Well, here we are," said Mr. Randolph as he stooped to turn her over. From his seat behind the wheel he began to breathe more easily and leaned out to study the face of his friend, the officer, to make sure that therein was no guile.

"Cheer up, Jim," he said not quite reassured. "Forget it."

"I'll try," said Mr. Flahabarty dubiously, "but I ever heard, been the first time I ever seen a thing like that. She sure give you a tussle, Slim?"

He slowly relaxed his grip on Miss Van T's person and whispered tremulously to her to keep her nerve but hand him her latchkey.

That was the very first thing that Miss Imogene Pamela Thornton did after she had finished spying from the window on the movements of what she supposed was Mr. Randolph and what, in reality, was Mr. Patrick O'Reilly in Mr. Randolph's best top-hat, best suit of evening clothes, and overcoat, best gray silk muffler, price twenty-two dollars, and best patent-leather shoes—the last a very tight fit which made the revamped gentleman's gait a cross between that of a chicken on a hot stove and a drunk on his reluctant way home.

Even the unsuspecting Miss Thornton was puzzled by that halting locomotion in connection with what she knew of Mr. Randolph, but she added it, two and two, with the mysterious twenty minutes spent by that gentleman and the driver in the recesses of the cab, apparently to settle a difference in ideas as to the value of a waiting taxi, and decided that poor Mr. Randolph must have issued from the interview in a semi-crippled state.

She herself was too excited to let pity altogether absorb her. Without waiting for either the tortured way-farer or the taxi to get out of sight, she dropped the window curtain and turned to possess herself of her world of comfort for a night. A starved instinct led her straight to the luxuriously appointed bathroom.

As previously intimated, she turned on the hot water and clasped her hands ecstatically as she watched its crystalline surge and imagined she could smell the opalescent steam.

But not for long was she inactive. Having surrendered to circumstance to the extent of promising to stay in the flat until ten the following morning, she decided to do the job wholeheartedly, for Imogene Pamela was one of those lucky and fated young women who can never give themselves up by halves. If happiness so much as showed its nose, it was her nature to tackle blindly for its waist and go to the mat for the immediate present.

Consequently, let not her modesty be misjudged when it is related that, in the short time it took to fill the bath, she accomplished the following: Rooted out Mr. Randolph's best silk pajamas, found his softest bathrobe, filled a hot-water bottle and slipped it far down between the too cold linen sheets of his big bed. Continuing at this rate of achievement, it may be imagined that in ten minutes more the young lady, having bathed, was curled up and sound asleep. Not on your life!

Item: It took her twenty-one minutes by the clock to scrub out the memory of the scrubby zinc bathtub of many years. Item: Twenty more minutes to wash her hair. Item: Half an hour more to scrub her underwear and stockings. Assorted items: Various pauses during which she shamelessly looked at herself in a full-length mirror of such pure reflecting qualities as had not crossed her path since England was a pup. After that, a long, entrancing item, called "drying her hair."

Did you blame her, three lines back, in your heart for her frequent inspections of self in the mirror? If you did, look at her now! Mr. Randolph's bathrobe is billowed at her waist and tied tight to keep it from trailing on the floor; for almost a like reason, its sleeves are rolled up above her elbows. It is open in a V at the neck, showing the adolescent curve of a virginal but much excited bosom.

With a woolly towel in both hands, she plants herself before the staid old looking-glass and gives it such a treat as it has never before savored in its sixty-two years of service to the Randolph family. Rub, rub, rub with the towel. Her cheeks grow pink and pinker, her eyes round and rounder. They twinkle and smile, and once, when she made a little face at herself, they laughed out loud. Her hair slowly wakes from its stinging drowsiness until it, too, bursts into a sort of light and curly merriment. Pamela puts out her cheeks and blows at its reflection.

FATHER OF MODERN SPINNING
Invention of Samuel Crompton, Englishman, of Immense Importance to the Western World.

At one time muslins were imported from India for the reason that English spinners were unable to produce yarn fine enough for the manufacture of such delicate fabrics.

The invention of Arkwright, by which spinning with rollers was used, and Hargreaves, with his spinning Jenny, led the way for Crompton to combine both of those inventions in his mule, thereby enabling spinners to draw out long threads in large numbers to more quantity than had ever been done by the East Indians.

This invention enabled Lancashire to assume the first place as cotton spinner to the world. Samuel Crompton was born December 3, 1733 at Fawcett. He came of the farming class and had rather a good education. On the death of his father his mother carried on the farm and set Samuel to spinning at home. Five years after his majority he completed his mule, "his mind during that time being in continual endeavor to realize a more perfect principle of spinning."

This he did at the expense of every shilling he had; and he gave his invention to the world, but in such a way that he gained no credit. Years afterward his statue was erected in Bolton.—Chicago Journal.

Arbitrage.
This is a term applied to transactions taking advantage of difference in price in different markets for the same articles. At the same time that the trader buys in the cheaper market he sells in the dearer. The margin between the two prices must be more than the cost of exchange in order to show a profit. Arbitrage transactions are usually in bullion or coin, bills and exchanges or stocks and bonds.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

LEGION MEN IN HOSPITALS

One-Third Ex-Service Boys in Institutions Are Members of the Great Organization.

One-third of the ex-service men who are confined in hospitals in thirty-two states are members of the American Legion, according to Gerald J. Murphy, director of the Legion's service division, who bases his report on figures compiled in a national census of disabled men taken by the Legion.

"With one-third of the disabled veterans enrolled in the Legion, against one-fifth of the other eligible ex-service men, it is shown that the disabled man realizes the results the Legion has obtained in its campaign for justice for the sick and wounded of the World War," Mr. Murphy declared. "The disabled man has not joined the Legion for the selfish purpose of obtaining his own compensation, for the Legion service is extended to veterans, regardless of Legion membership."

"Although the principal effort of the Legion is to aid the sick and wounded veteran, national and state legislation, Americanism work and many other projects beneficial to all ex-service men are being accomplished by the organization. These movements are expected to result in a greater percentage of Legion members among those who left the service without physical handicaps."

TO HOLD PRO-GERMAN MEETS

Sessions Alleged for Purpose of Protesting Against Negro Troops in French Army of Occupation.

Pro-German meetings planned for the near future in a number of cities in the East and Middle West will be closely watched by the American Legion, according to national headquarters of the ex-service men's organization. The series of meetings, it is understood, will be held for the purpose of protesting against the reported presence of negro colonial troops in the French army of occupation, despite the fact that the troops in question were withdrawn many months ago.

Cities in which the meetings are scheduled are Milwaukee, Omaha, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Louisville, Chicago, Cleveland and New York. It is understood that Dr. Edmund von Mach, who was rebuffed at Washington, D. C., in an effort to enlist the aid of F. W. Caldwell, Jr., Legion national commander, in the project, and George Sylvester Viereck, notorious Boche magazine editor, are among the hyphenated Americans who are sponsoring the movement.

A bulletin, from Legion national headquarters, warning state headquarters to watch for an attempt to receive German propaganda and to create sentiment in America hostile to the allies, has been sent out, and steps have been taken by national officials to influence the Department of Justice to prohibit the meetings.

"A recurrence of German propaganda activity in this country is something the Legion has been watching for for some time," said Leonard Bodley, national adjutant of the Legion. "I feel that the greatest check to a movement of this kind will come from citizens of Teutonic extraction, of whose loyalty and sincerity there can be no doubt. Loyal Americans should know of the sinister efforts to turn sentiment in favor of the nation with which technically we are still at war."

NAVY HEAD SENDS GREETINGS

Josephus Daniels, Retiring Secretary, Expresses Appreciation for Part in World War.

A message of greeting and appreciation to the members of the American Legion was written by Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, just previous to his retirement from office. The message follows:

"Upon my retirement as the directing head of the navy, which place I was privileged to hold during the World War, I wish to send a word of greeting and appreciation to all who belong to the American Legion and all who served their country in the army and navy during those crucial days. It was a privilege I shall regard as the most sacred in my life to have been their comrade in those great days. They truly saved the civilization of the world by their spirit and their valor. In the days that are to come the world depends upon them for saving it from the perils of peace. I have profound faith that they will not be wanting in the new call upon them for the same courage and wisdom in peace which they manifested in war."

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper
Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.
You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.
But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.
Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

VOTE "YES" ON SOLDIER BONUS.

(Reprinted from The Detroit News
March 23, 1921.)

Michigan's former service men are not seeking to commercialize their patriotism in asking a state bonus. They believe it is due them, sentiment aside, as a matter of financial compensation, according to Lyle D. Tabor, department adjutant of the American Legion for Michigan.

"An analysis of 220,000 Detroit workmen's bank accounts has shown us," he said, "that during eight months of the war period the average workman's savings were $421. These men stayed at home and reaped the benefit of high wages. Service men took war's hardships and when they were discharged got $60."

"Saw Easy Street Ahead," he continued, "the more insistent is the demand that something concrete be done. When the Armistice was signed, the boys didn't care so much. Many of them said, 'Well, we can get a job and we'll be on Easy Street.' Now many of them haven't had jobs for months—and they need the money."

"First we were told the country couldn't afford a bonus; then we were told to wait till the disabled men had been cared for. That was all right with us, because the Legion's policy always has been that first consideration should be for the disabled. But while Michigan's former service men are waiting, the disabled are receiving treatment on poor farms, we continue to wait."

"The Senate Finance Committee has endorsed the justice of our claims. In its report the committee said: 'The general assumption that the enactment of this bill into law will immediately load upon the backs of an already excessively tax-burdened public an immense sum of money is not warranted.'"

Can Country Do Less?
"Leaving out of the equation every vestige of sentiment, every element of gratitude and applying only the rigid rule of mathematical calculation, we can not deny that by allowing the man who fought for his country, who placed his life in pawn for his country, the increase in compensation provided by this bill, we are still giving him for his service, with all its risks and hardships, a compensation much below that which the common laborer in the United States received during his absence. Can a grateful country do less than this?"

"The American appreciation for heroic service will not die with this Congress nor with the ensuing scores of years. Though often forced to delay, the American people have never failed ultimately to do full justice to the men who fought their battles. 'Twelve states have passed bonus bills in which a cash payment is granted. In nearly every case, the measure was carried by votes of 3 to 1. Forty-four states have passed some sort of legislation beneficial to the former service man. In New York state a referendum on a $45,000,000 bond issue carried by more than half a million votes."

The merchant who advertises does more to make prices come down than any other thing. Over the prices drop just as soon as the Avalanche gets in circulation. Last week eggs dropped from 40c per dozen to 30c when one of our stores advertised that price. Another went one better and marked them down to 28c. Trade at the stores that advertise for if it wasn't for them you would be paying higher prices. Encourage them with your patronage.

GRANGE NOTES.

When tillage begins, other arts follow—the farmers therefore are the founders of human civilization.
Daniel Webster.

Not many members were present at the last meeting of the Grange, due largely to the rain. However the old faithful ones were present all the arriving late and a good meeting was held.

Committees were appointed to take charge of the membership drive. The hour being a. m. Bailey said he would gladly postpone his lecture on soil fertility and growing potatoes until a later date.

A number of agricultural and other bulletins were displayed and were interesting to look at.
In looking over my bulletins I found a few of which I had two or more copies. These and other bulletins will be given to anyone who wants them.

Collecting bulletins is a good way to obtain useful and practical knowledge at home. Many, if not all bulletins may be obtained free for the asking by anyone who really wants them.

The Bank of Grayling is offering "A farm account book" free of charge and wishes the farmers would take more pains and a little time (a few minutes each day) and keep an account of their business, that they might know at the end of the year what they should know.

The Northeastern Development Bureau is seeking statistical aid in advertising Northeastern Michigan. And farm accounting will help. Let's give our aid.

April 1st is an excellent time to take an inventory and state book accounts for at that time there is less hay and grain to estimate and farm operations, as a rule are not yet commenced. If you are not a granger, don't be afraid to step around the G. A. R. hall and ask for one of these account books and look over the display of bulletins and books. Remember the lecture hour is open to the public and all farmers should take advantage of this.

To every member of the Grange, who is in good standing, who gets a new or reinstated member, the State Grange gives a new Grange pin or button. So come and get an application blank and earn the pin or button. Remember the state Grange slogan "every member get a member."

Attend the next meeting and help make the Crawford County Grange better.

Clifford Merrill, Lecturer.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S. C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book that was thrown in my door, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. I have not paper enough to tell you how much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish."—ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, case of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

Rich Yukon Silver Deposits.
Authoritative reports from the Yukon territory, Canada, indicate the location of many rich silver deposits in the Mayo district, about 150 miles east of Dawson, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A few veins, eight feet in thickness, assaying 5,000 to 14,000 ounces of the metal to the ton, are being worked. Five-foot veins are common, and smaller lodes with an assay of 200 ounces, are said to be plentiful. At present transportation and living conditions in the district are very bad. These will be bettered if a proposed motor road into the territory is built.

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Beware! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Eczema, Toothache, Lumbago, and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve Bayer Tablets of Aspirin cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monocetate of Salicylic Acid.

Feel All Worn Out?

Has a cold, grip, or other infectious disease sapped your strength? Do you suffer backache, lack ambition, feel dull and depressed? Look to your kidneys! Physicians agree that kidney trouble often results from infectious disease. Too often the kidneys are neglected because the sufferer doesn't realize they have broken down under the strain of filtering disease-created poisons from the blood. If your back is bad, your kidneys act irregularly, and you feel all run down, use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Ask your neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Phil Kuntath, 625 State St., Alpena, Mich., says: "There was dull, steady ache in my back to my kidneys and it was lame and sore. I felt tired and weak. When I raised up or made a sharp turn I was blinded by black spots. My kidneys were weak and irregular. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a few boxes, which fixed me up in good shape."

Holland.—Orrie Brusse was arrested for speeding an automobile while intoxicated. He came up for trial in the court of his uncle Peter Brusse. Nephew Brusse pleaded guilty and begged for mercy. Uncle Peter, however, surveyed him with a cold eye. "Fifty dollars," quoth he, "or 30 days in the county jail." Orrie paid.

Grand Rapids.—Charging repeated promises of marriage were forgotten after her friendship had been bought by increased wages and more pleasant work, Selma Urban, 23-year-old employee of the American Seating Co., has brought suit for $15,000 damages in circuit court against William Dausser, superintendent of the steel department of the company.

Ludington.—A solid train of 42 cars of flour from across the lake, destined for Hamburg, Germany, was received by the Pere Marquette railway here and delivered to the Lehigh Valley at Buffalo for the seaboard last week. This followed a 25-car train of corn for the same destination. These are believed to be the first large shipments made to Germany since the war.

Monroe.—About one dozen suits were started in circuit court, by Monroe residents against the Conservative Life Insurance company, of Wheeling, W. Va., it being the contention of the plaintiffs, the company had no license from the Michigan securities commission to sell stock in Michigan until November 1 last. Most of these sales were made prior to that time. The cases have been started through the office of Prosecuting Attorney William Haas, and amounts involved total from $500 to $5,000, the combined total amounting to considerable.

Hillsdale.—Politics can not cause domestic discord when a woman loves her husband more than public office, according to Mrs. Bessie M. Becker, clerk of Somerset Township, who for the second time is a candidate for office against her husband, George Becker. A year ago Mrs. Becker defeated her husband by 17 votes. She is a Democrat and he a Republican, but she says they never let political differences interfere with family affairs. The job pays $100 a year. Mrs. Becker said her husband was the Republicans' only chance to win.

CARDINAL GIBBONS TAKEN BY DEATH

END COMES PEACEFULLY TO ROMAN CATHOLIC LEADER AT BALTIMORE HOME.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES

Cardinal's Grave to Be Close to Where He Was Baptized and Consecrated As Priest.

Baltimore, Md.—James, Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore and senior prelate of the Roman Catholic church in the United States, died at 11:33 o'clock Thursday of last week, passing away so quietly that even his nurse could not be sure that it was the end. Cardinal Gibbons was stricken several weeks ago and the worse was feared at that time, but his condition changed for the better and great hopes had been entertained for his complete recovery.

Arrangements for the funeral have been made for Thursday of this week. At the funeral will gather the greatest company of churchmen ever assembled in the United States. The funeral procession will include the cardinals, archbishops, bishops and apostolic delegates, and virtually all the priests in the diocese of Maryland. Archbishop Gleason of the St. Louis diocese will preach the sermon.

His grave will be in the niche in the crypt under the high altar of the cathedral. Above his vault, behind whose south wall lie the six archbishops of Maryland who have preceded him, is the sanctuary of the cathedral to which the cardinal's parents brought him as a baby to be baptized, where he was consecrated as a bishop, where he was later consecrated an archbishop, and where on June 30, 1886, he was invested with the robes of the cardinalate.

COUNTIES PAID LESS FOR 1920

Approximately $50,000 Drop in Taxes Compared With 1919.

Lansing.—The counties of the state paid approximately $50,000 less into the state treasury for taxes in the fiscal year of 1920 than in 1919.

A complete report of the assessed valuation and amounts paid into the treasury by counties prepared by the tax department of the auditor general's office shows slight decreases in a majority of the counties. The total state tax for all counties in 1919 was $17,430,895.73. In 1920 it was $17,378,328.35. The aggregate of real and personal property as equalized by the state board of equalization was the same for both years, $4,500,000,000.

CERTIFIED SEED HELPS CROPS

Increased Potato Production As Result of Co-operative Movement.

East Lansing.—Increased per acre production and generally higher standards are prospects for the future of Michigan's potato growing industry if seed certification work now carried on by the State Potato Producers' association gains the results expected.

More than 25,000 bushels of potatoes were certified by the association for seed purposes last season, in spite of the fact that the work was started only a year ago, and the success of the movement to date indicates a great increase in certification in 1921.

Lady Astor Chases Man

Plymouth, Eng.—Lady Astor had an unpleasant encounter here when, as she was leaving her residence, a soldier halted her, made use of violent language and threatened to kill her. Realizing that a display of fear might be followed by an attack, Lady Astor sought for time and tried to get the man's name and address. Her tactics were so successful that the soldier started to run, with his questioner in close pursuit. The soldier was caught and turned over to the police.

Auction Nets U. S. About $125,000; Cots Sold For 35 Cents.

Battle Creek.—Everything from chinaware to dynamite was sold or offered for sale at the War Department surplus supply auction at Camp Custer, one of the biggest sales ever conducted in Michigan.

Seventy-five thousand cots were sold in one consignment for 35 cents each. One firm bought more than a hundred carloads of assorted supplies. Maj. Casselman, in charge of the sale, said that about $125,000 was realized. Food offered for sale consisted mostly of canned goods. The surplus stock did not include regulation army stores.

The razing of Camp Custer will require at least a year, it is said. About 150 men are employed there now.

Gen. Wood said he "did not know a thing about it." "It's a matter for the financial committee to settle," he said. "I did not know there was any trouble over the financial matters."

Mr. Proctor says the $110,000 is separate from the sums he gave to the Wood campaign.

"I don't know how much I gave," he said. "That's all in the past."

According to reports, the motor king has given his personal attention to the development of this model, since he plunged into railroad building last fall with his D. T. & I. purchase. ### "Would-Be" Name of Town

"Well, then if it would be, it would be," the inspector retorted, and became Would Be.

And he intimated the Anti-Saloon League never will allow enforcement officers have removed restrictions on beer.

RESULTS REMARKABLE SAYS NEW YORK MAN

Prominent Rochester Citizen Tied Ten Years To Get Relief, But Tanlac Is Only Thing That Helped Him.

JAMES J. BEASLEY
Of Rochester, New York.

One of the latest to testify regarding the powers of Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results, is James J. Beasley, 102 Elmwood Avenue, Rochester, New York. Mr. Beasley has been chief record keeper for the Department of Water Works, city of Rochester, for thirty years and is a well known and highly respected citizen. In referring to the remarkable recovery of his health by the use of Tanlac, Mr. Beasley said: "I have been trying for ten years to find relief from a case of dyspepsia. Nothing ever helped me to amount to anything until I got Tanlac. This is saying a great deal, for I did everything it seems that a man could do to find relief. Of course, I was hardly ever sick enough to go to bed and was most always able to keep going, but I just never felt right. At times during those ten years, my stomach would become sour like vinegar. I would have an uncomfortable bloated up feeling after eating that would last for hours. I suffered a great deal from nausea. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate and I would become alarmed over my condition. My nerves were on edge all the time, and I became irritable, nervous and restless. I had no strength or energy to do anything. In fact I wasn't like myself at all. Even a week or two ago it was an effort for me to get out of my chair and I felt as stiff and clumsy as an 'old work horse.'"

"It is really remarkable what Tanlac has accomplished in my case. It has relieved me entirely of indigestion. I never have that distressing feeling any more after eating, and I feel perfectly fine in every way. I will always feel grateful for what this wonderful medicine has done for me and I am only too glad to give it my heartiest endorsement." Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Church Official Evidently Had His Own Idea of Ultimate Destination of Mausoleum Owner.

A colored man of some means built a handsome mausoleum for himself in the churchyard. It was a massive piece of masonry and presented an aspect of unusual strength. One day he met one of the church officers coming out of the churchyard. "Well," said the owner of the mausoleum, with an air of pride, "you have been up seen" that mausoleum of mine?"

"I have," was the response. "What do you think about my rising out of it on the day of judgment?" "Oh, well," said the other, "I wouldn't bother about that. When that day comes, they'll just take the bottom out of your casket and let you fall down."—Harper's Magazine.

STATE TO START FIGHT ON WOLVES

EMPLOY TRAPPERS IN EFFORT TO EXTERMINATE ANIMAL IN GOGEBIC COUNTY.

FIRST CAMP OPENS APRIL 8TH

Bill Now Before the Legislature Authorizing Work By Public Domain Commission.

Houghton, Mich.—Arrangements have been made by the state of Michigan to proceed with the extermination of wolves. It is the first attempt of the kind in the history of Michigan, the suggestion having been made by the Houghton Gun and Rod club.

The first camp to be established will be located near Borden on Lake Gogebic, Gogebic county, which is said to be the center of the wolf population of the upper peninsula.

Although the trappers will be paid by the state the work will be under the direction of Stockley J. Ligon, of Washington, D. C. Mr. Ligon spent several weeks in the upper peninsula last fall studying the question of methods to be employed in hunting wolves.

At present there is a bill before the Michigan legislature providing for the employment by the public domain commission of wolf trappers. That the commission is fairly satisfied the bill will become a law is attested by the fact a force of 20 men has been engaged to proceed to Lake Gogebic and establish headquarters. The camp is to open April 8. Two lumber companies have placed their camps at the disposal of the state.

SOVIET UNABASHED BY REBUFF

To Renew Effort For Trade Relations With United States.

Helsingfors.—Regardless of the rebuff administered by the state department at Washington in its recent communication on the subject, the Russian soviet government probably will continue its efforts for trade with America. Bohren, "most likely through American business concerns to which we are ready to grant concessions, while of course soviet Russia is ready to make new overtures at any time the American government gives fit to change its view point toward us."

Supreme Court Ruling Affects Increased Value of Any Investment.

Washington.—Three sweeping victories were won by the government in the supreme court interpretation of the term "income" for the assessment of taxes under the income and excess profits act.

DOINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

FARM BUREAU NOTES.

Signs of an early spring have not given rise to any indications of an early adjournment of the present session of the Legislature. There is small prospect that final adjournment can occur until the fore part of May, for new bills continue to make their appearance in generous quantities and the legislative mill is grinding rather slowly on its large and varied grist.

The slowness with which the official wheels are moving is due mainly to the vital importance of the proposed legislation under consideration rather than to any lack of diligence on the part of the lawmakers, for they have worked early and late. Thursday the House had 68 bills on its daily calendar.

Two more of the Governor's reorganization bills were introduced during the past week. The first was presented in the House by Rep. Byrum of Ingham and would create a State Welfare department to replace the present multiplicity of boards, with five united commissions having an aggregate membership of 22 as against 69 now employed under the present system. The five proposed centralized commissions are: The State hospital commission, the State correction commission, the State institutional commission, and the Welfare commission.

The second new administrative bill to be introduced during the week was presented by Sen. Forrester of Sanilac. It provides for a State department of public safety. The proposed department would take over the duties of the state police, the fire marshal's department, and the state auditor, and would supplement local agencies for the preservation of the public peace and safety.

Judging the capital punishment bill was a favorite indoor sport with the members of the lower house during the first part of the past week. The vote by which the bill had lost out on final passage by a bare margin of two votes had been reconsidered and the bill laid on the table, so it was in an excellent position to be the subject of all sorts of jockeying. Mostly on the part of the foes of the measure, who sought to put the bill off from the table and get to a final vote before the other two friends of the bill, whose votes were necessary for its passage, should return from Marquette where they were conducting an investigation of the Marquette prison.

Equally close was the margin in the case of Rep. Mosier's state income tax proposal. This being a constitutional amendment, required a two-thirds vote in the House to pass the measure and it is sure to have a full attendance of the representatives.

"The right to petition" is not being disregarded by Michigan citizens during the present legislative session. Every day great quantities of petitions have been presented in both Houses. By far the greatest number of these have been in favor of movie censorship. Petitions on this subject have run into the hundreds and some of them have signatures running up into the thousands.

Activities of the committee appointed to investigate the use of funds for the State Office building have been the subject of much discussion in the State Office Building board that $32,500 can be saved in the interior decoration of the State Office and Library building and $88,000 on the remodeling of that portion of the capitol which will be vacated by the Library and Supreme Court Justices. The bill making an appropriation to complete the new state building has passed the Senate and is being considered by the House.

Important bills which have passed the Senate during the week include: Rep. Morrison's bill to authorize townships to appropriate money for fire protection for unincorporated villages within their boundaries; Sen. Smith's bill to require the drain commissioner to lay out a drain at the request of the highway commissioner; Sen. Penney's bill to establish the Colgrove Highway, an important trunk line passing through nine counties from the Indiana border in St. Joseph County to Port Sanilac in Sanilac County; Sen. Bryant's bill to abolish the State Police; Sen. Condon's bill requiring owners of automobiles to obtain a certificate of title of each auto; Sen. McArthur's bill to provide for the disposition of county war chest funds and other funds raised for patriotic purposes; and Sen. Osborn's "angler's license" bill to require fishermen to procure licenses similar to the hunter's license.

Bills which passed the House include: Rep. Locke's bill to repeal the act requiring the gathering of agricultural statistics by threshermen; Rep. Braman's bill to regulate the packing and sale of apples in closed packages; and Rep. Dufosse's bill to allow boards of supervisors to levy a special tax for advertising the agricultural advantages of their county. New legislation of interest presented during the past week included the following entitled bills: "A bill to provide for the collection of agricultural statistics by township and city supervisors or other assessing officers," by Rep. Hopkins of Manistee; "A bill to prohibit the sale of tickets for more than the price printed thereon, for theatres, circuses, athletic grounds and places of public amusement," by Sen. Sink of Washtenaw; "A bill regulating the placing of signs on the private property of another and prohibiting the placing of signs upon public highways," by Sen. Smith of Detroit; "A bill providing for the payment of a poll tax by every inhabitant of this state between the ages of 21 and 50 years," by Rep. Smith of Wayne; a similar bill "providing for the payment of a capitation tax by every person between the ages of 21 and 60 years, residing in this state," by Rep. Rowe of Hillsdale; and "A bill to prohibit the use of wooden shingles for roofing purposes in this state," and specifying a maximum penalty of one hundred dollars fine or 90 days in jail, by Rep. Robinson of Saginaw.

Farm Bureau Service.

ORGANIZATIONS MAY MARKET THRU CHANNELS OF EACH OTHER.

Michigan farmers, who are members of the state farm bureau or of the Michigan Potato Growers' exchange will be interested in the temporary reciprocal business arrangements recently concluded by representatives of the two organizations, whereby the highly specialized potato marketing machinery of the Cadillac exchange will become available to farm bureau locals now affiliated with the farm bureau elevator exchange in return for grain and hay services to potato grower marketing associations from the farm bureau elevator exchange, according to a statement made by the farm bureau.

The potato growers exchange has taken a membership in the farm bureau elevator exchange and the latter organization has taken a membership in the potato growers exchange. Locals of one organization market thru channels of the other but must abide by the rules and charges of the marketing organizations, according to the agreement.

Marketing experts whose services are now available to locals of both organizations are: A. B. Large, potato growers exchange; J. S. Bate-man, hay and grain salesman of the farm bureau elevator exchange, and L. E. Osmer, perhaps the best known grain salesman of the State. He will join the farm bureau elevator exchange soon.

The closer cooperation of both exchanges is viewed by their officials as a step toward even more comprehensive business relations under the state farm bureau's new plan of commodity control.
